must click on: "sell" (if the order is "buy") or "buy" (if the order is "sell") of the traded instrument, at the price quoted by the platform at the moment of closing of the transaction.

(3) Platforms for electronic trading quote "buy" and "sell" prices for all underlying assets, which the contract for difference traded on the platform is based on. the client accepts that the opening of a "buy" position or closing of a "sell" position (or the opposite) may only be executed at the price quoted by the platform for buying/selling the corresponding underlying asset.

(4) (amended by resolution of the Managers dated 02.01.2018) Orders can be set and (if allowed) changed) within the working hours, periodically changed by UP TREND, for every type of asset on the selected platform and/or on the website AInvesting.com.

(5) At the platform for electronic trading The client has the right to open trading positions at the best available price quoted by the platform at the time of trade (the market order), except if The client sets a specific price, at which they would like to open the trading position (pending order). With respect to the market orders, the price at which some transactions are executed is not always precisely the price displayed on the platform at the moment the order has been submitted. The client accepts that at the market order may be accepted and executed at a price which is lower or higher than the price quoted at the time of submitting the order.

(6) With respect to the pending orders, the price at which some transactions are executed, is not always precisely the price at which the order has been submitted. THE client accepts that pending orders may be executed at a price lower (if the order is "buy" or higher (if the order is "sell") than the price set in the Limit order, as displayed on the platform. The client has the right to cancel any Limit order without bearing additional responsibility at any moment before its actual execution.

(7) Pending orders, if not executed, remain valid during the next trading session. Market orders that are not executed, due to insufficient volume, are being cancelled.

(8) All open spot positions are rolled to the next working day, at the end of the trading session on the corresponding market. All open CFDs positions in futures may be rolled at the end of the relevant period for the next one, the rules for opening a position of UP TREND in CFDs in futures remain the same when the asset expires.

(9) The period of validity of the orders depends on their type and time limit as set by the client. If the period of validity is not clearly set by the client, it is valid for indefinite period of time. UP TREND might delete one or more pending orders, if the client's account balance reaches zero, or is not sufficient to cover the margin maintenance requirements for the relevant position.

(10) Once executed, orders cannot be annulled. Pending orders may be deleted or changed before being executed.

(11) The client may change the validity day of pending orders before execution, if the platform allows so.

(12) Orders for limiting losses (stop loss) and taking profit (take profit) may be changed, if the change is compliant with the required distance to the current market price (accordingly to the trading terms of the corresponding asset).

(1) If UP TREND cannot execute an order because of the price, the volume or other reason, UP TREND may send second quote.

In case of high price volatility of the relevant underlying asset, execution of the client's order may be delayed, and the client may receive the first possible price, available on the underlying asset's market, and not the first requested by them.

(3) (amended by resolution of the Managers dated 27.03.2013) The quotes provided by UP TREND on their trading platforms are consistent with the underlying assets prices, but that does not mean the quotes are a fixed percentage of that price. When the market of the underlying asset is closed, the quotes provided by UP TREND, reflect the current "buy" and "sell" prices of the asset according to UP TREND's discretion. the client accepts that the quotes are defined by UP TREND.

General Terms and Conditions of Investment Intermediary "UP TREND" OOD

UP TREND bears no responsibility.

(2) The client agrees that putting a stop loss order will not necessarily limit the losses to desired levels, because market circumstances might make it impossible for that kind of order to be executed at the given price and UP TREND has no responsibility for it.

(3) The client may change the price of stop loss, respectively take profit orders for an open position at any time.

(4) When the client submits an order for limiting losses (Stop Loss) or taking profit (Take Profit), they authorize UP TREND to close the position at the relevant price, set in The Order, no matter if it is a loss or a profit, without the need of additional instructions or notice to the client. UP TREND may close The Position, when the price quoted at the trading platform reaches the price given by the client for the relevant order.

(5) The client accepts that the first price level, set in the STOP Loss order may change, when the market price of the underlying asset is moving in favour of the client. When trailing stop is an active order, The client agrees that every change of the market price by at least one hundredth of a percentage point (called "pip") in their favour, represents a rise of the price set in the Stop Loss order by one pip. Pips changes are rounded to the nearest absolute value.

(6) The client understands and agrees that due to market volatility and factors beyond the control of UP TREND, UP TREND cannot guarantee execution of an order at the price set by the client. E.g. an order may be closed at a price worse than the first one set by the client. In this case UP TREND will close the Position at the second best possible price, e.g. there are a sell and a stop loss order, if the price of the underlying asset suddenly rises up above the stop loss order, without even reaching that price. When there are a buy and a stop loss orders, the price may suddenly fall below the price of the stop loss order, without even reaching it.

(7) Respectively if there is a take profit order, when the market price is moving in favour of the client (for example if the price falls when the client has sold, or the price rises when the client has bought), the client agrees that UP TREND may forward these price benefits to the client.

(8) (amended by resolution of the Managers dated 02.01.2018) On electronic trading platforms, guaranteed Stop Loss orders might be available for CFDs based on certain underlying assets as listed on the website AInvesting.com. Information on the eligible financial instruments for which such guaranteed Stop Loss orders are available can be found on the relevant platform and/or on the website AInvesting.com. If the client places a guaranteed Stop Loss order upon opening a position and the market price reaches or goes beyond the price set by the client in that particular Stop Loss order, UP TREND guarantees to close the position precisely at the price set by client in the stop loss order. Open positions may be closed before reaching the price level initially set in the guaranteed stop order. Guaranteed stop orders are subject of additional conditions.

Article 9e. (new by resolution of the management of 23.11.2012) (1) (amended by resolution of the Managers dated 27.03.2013 and 22.05.2017) UP TREND provides confirmation for a transaction concluded via the electronic trading platform. The confirmation under the preceding sentence includes information regarding the canceled transactions, indicating their parameters.

(2) (amended by resolution of the Managers dated 22.05.2017) UP TREND maintains accountancy of the funds, their movement, transactions, the fees and commissions charged to the client, as well as the continuous recalculation of the open positions via the electronic trading platform.
